Right: An ice storm hits the area in December. Many students were without electricity for 3 to 5 days.

This year's yearbook was the first ever all color yearbook, who would have thought this could happen! As a yearbook class we decided to carry this theme throughout the yearbook by encouraging goals to be set and accomplished by various departments in school. Our yearbook class set a goal to involve the entire school body. We asked for each class and organization to come up with goals they would like to see accomplished during the school year. Along with many others, we accomplished our goal of 100% participation and proved that "It Could Happen".

This year the sixth grade students took on a big responsibility. They set up a post office for the Wee Deliver program. The Wee Deliver program began in January under the direction of Mrs. Kinsel. Any student grades K-6 could send letters to one another. Sixth grade students must postmark each letter and route it correctly according to the address. Letters addressed incorrectly must be returned to the sender. Approximately 216 letters were sent on the first day.

Third Grade Happenings

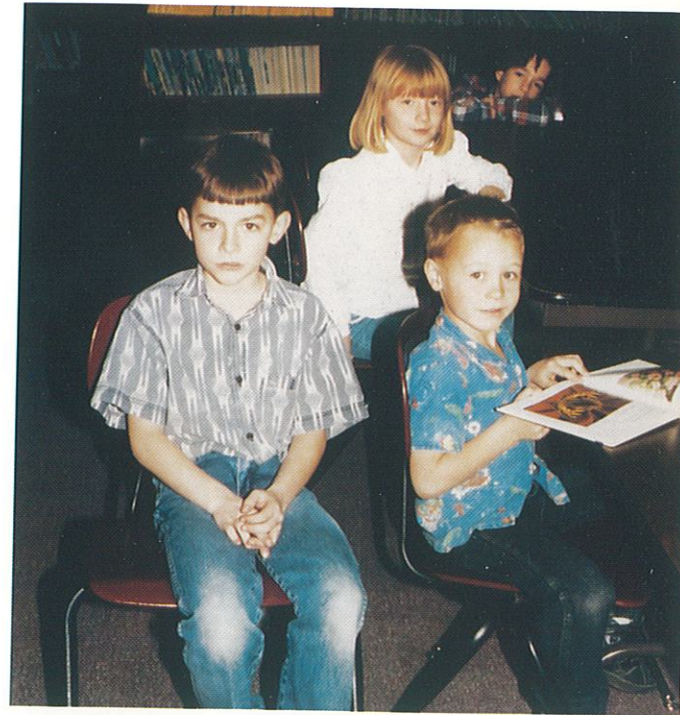

This year third grade had a magic show after learning about Houdini. They also held a multiplication challenge between third and fourth grade in which fourth grade won. In science they made paper mache globes and solar system mobiles. To top it all off they participated in the "Wee Deliver" writing program.

The second graders have been busy this year forming their own band, making a friendship salad, and taking trips to Puerto Rico and Alaska. They have also performed many puppet shows for the elementary. On Thanksgiving the second graders dressed as pilgrims and Indians and invited fourth grade to share a Thanksgiving feast which they had prepared.

To take time out for some fun, they learned how to jump rope and line dance.

Varsity boys basketball to have a winning season

This year the coaches and players were asked to set goals for each sport. Some of the goals were: to play for first at the North Shelby Softball Tournament, to play for first in baseball districts, to play for the district championship in girls basketball, to have a winning season in boys basketball, and to repeat past performances at conference and district track meets. These goals helped teams strive to excel and to work together. Over 50% of the goals were reached.

Lady Tigers finish the year with 9-5 record.

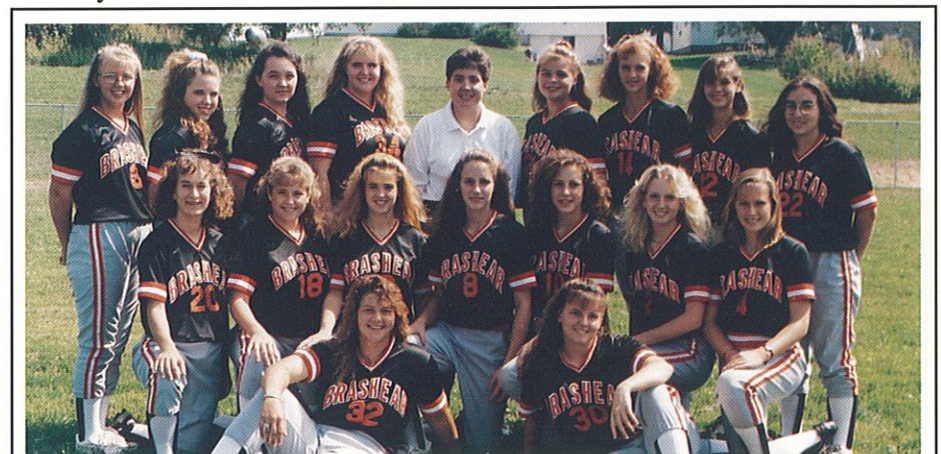

Once again the Lady Tigers beat the odds by playing in the first place game at the North Shelby Tournament. As a team, goals were set to motivate each other. Two of these goals included to be focused on every game and to improve overall performance. This year was filled with heart stopping games and crowd pleasing plays.

The first round game in district competition was played against Marion Co. The Lady Tigers played nine innings to finish with a 4-2 win.

This year the team was led by two seniors: Sara Thompson and Brandi Childress.

Spring season rainouts

The fall season started out to many as a season that would be flawless and outstanding. The first game of the fall season was bagged by David Cameron with an 18 strike-out performance, Macon County was the victim. The Tigers proceed to a win, relying on strong pitching and clutch hitting. The Tigers posted a 5-0 record with only three games left to a conference championship. The next three games for the Tigers would be the most disappointing games.

After ousting tougher competition in the earliest part of the season, the Tigers settled with a record of 5-3.

"The last three games of our fall season were the most disappointing to me."
Jeremy Billington, senior

The spring season drew to a close with a 4-4 record for the Tigers. The spring season was finished with a six inning rainout against Schuyler County. The Tigers collected wins against Knox County, Marion County, Wyaconda and Linn County.

Tiger Spirit!

The 1994-95 Junior High cheerleading squad had a very successful year. The squad consisted of five girls, Captain Niki Mihalovich, Co-Captain Trevia Gregory, Stacy Erwin, Kayla Owen, and Sonya Darnell. In preparation for their upcoming season the squad attended a one-day summer camp held at Macon High School. Once again the junior high and high school squads attended the Mizzou Cheer Clinic which was held on October 23, 1994. For a fund raiser both junior high and high school squads joined together for the first elementary cheerleading clinic, called Rah Rah Rookie. This was held on Saturday the third of December and attendants performed at the first home game of the high school season. There were thirty-five girls involved and everyone had a great time.

10 new cheers, 20 new chants Cheerleaders

This year has definitely been an excellent year for the high school cheerleaders. They were led by four senior girls: Leah Hettinger, Stacy Dalton, Jenny Church, and Wendy Williams. The cheerleaders attended a UCA summer camp held in Kirksville. At camp they were evaluated daily and received the award for Most Improved Squad. Leah Hettinger was named UCA All-Star. The squad accomplished their goal to perform a dance at every home game. The cheerleading coach Mrs. Carol Chambers was a large asset to the growth of the squad and the respect the cheerleaders have been shown during the past five years. At the end of the season, she retired her position as cheerleading coach. She will be greatly missed.

#1 Fan poem was written by the cheerleaders and given to cheerleading coach, Mrs. Chambers, for her years as BHS cheerleading coach.

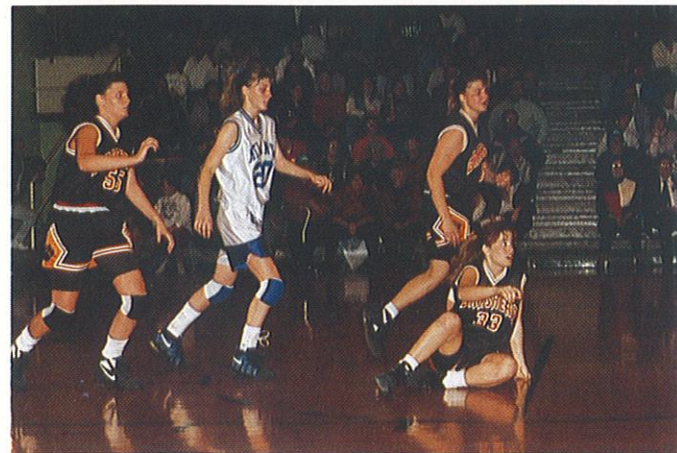

#1 Fan
Through the many years of coaching us, teaching us, and watching us you are still the world's best cheerleading coach. Your considerate and enthusiastic personality has matured us into young women. After all the disagreements and petty quarrels we have had with each other they seem to disappear after you talk to us and bring us back together. You have the patience to watch our mistakes as we try to make them right. You are at every ballgame cheering us on and comforting us when we make a mistake. You are our #1 fan and always will be. Even though this is our last year as seniors we will never forget you. Although this is your last year and you may never be a cheerleading coach again, you'll always be our cheerleading coach and best friend.

This year the year-book class had each teacher set certain goals for their classes to achieve. These goals included: 80% of the typing students will achieve 40 wpm, the Spanish class will increase their vocabulary to 350 words, the clothing class will have a winning entry in the Columbia fashion show, elementary reading students will read 50 books each month October-April, and all kindergarten students will learn their capital and lower-case letters. Many goals were reached.

Tigerfest '95 "Kick a Little"

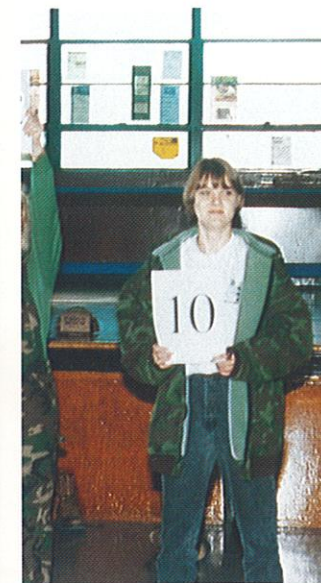

This year's homecoming week was different than the past. Instead of the floats and posters, it was games, games, games. Each morning there was a different activity for the students to participate in, such as the Human Amoeba, Ten Little Boxers, Rodeo Rally, Sockfooted Tug-of-War and Tiger Test. Days were Camo Day, Boxer Day, Dress-up Day, Come As You Are Day, and Cowboy Way Day. Homecoming week ended with the seniors placing first, juniors placing second and eighth grade placing third. Prince and princess were Kyle Platz and Katie Primmer. Nathan Selby and Carrie Erwin were crowned king and queen.

Christmas Program and Spring Concert

To set the Christmas spirit for the evening, the band played as people entered the gymnasium. The program got under way at 7 p.m. while the crowd enjoyed the sounds of the elementary students singing traditional Christmas songs. The high school chorus ended the evening with their performance.

The Spring Concert for the 1994-95 school year was held in the high school gymnasium on April 10, 1995. This year's concert included two songs from each elementary class, as well as a solo by senior Stephanie Cooper and songs by the freshman ensemble.

High School Happenings

Some of the changes this year in the student life were some of the goals set. Some of the goals set were: no library books lost this year, all students have fines paid by May 10, 75% of the seniors will have applied to a post-secondary school by March 1, and 75% of students taking the ACT will score above a 20 composite. Each high school teacher set a couple of goals for their students to achieve before the end of the school year. Some of the goals were achieved early, and some of them were not achieved at all.

Elementary Happenings

During the school year, the elementary participated in many programs and assemblies. Included in this were the Wee Deliver Program, Missouri Roots, Reading Week, and the It Could Happen program. Also this year in the elementary, goals were set for the It Could Happen program. Some of the goals set were: no student with major physical injuries on school property, all kindergarten students will learn their upper and lower case letters, all students will learn their numbers 1 to 100, and students will have an attendance rate of 97% or above.

National Honor Society

This year National Honor Society sponsor, Diane Bradley, set a goal for the "It Could Happen" program. The goal was that at least two people from the NHS group would be able to attend the 1995 NHS State Convention held in St. Charles. With the help and hard work of the entire group everyone in the National Honor Society was able to attend.

One other goal was set by the organization it was to have one activity of Social, Service, and Fundraiser for each month. This goal was also reached.

As the senior class debated on how to pose for the annual senior portrait they remembered back to the one they took in kindergarten. Although many changes have taken place in 12 years the class decided to pose as they did so many years ago. Out of 24 students five have been offered extra curricular scholarships; Sara Thompson-softball, Leah Hettinger-cheerleading, Wendy Williams-track, Jeremy Billington-baseball, Stephanie Cooper-chorus, and Carrie Erwin was awarded the "Bright Flight" scholarship for her outstanding score 31 on the ACT. Counselor Mrs. Bradley set a goal for the senior class, for 75% to have applied to higher education as of January 1. This goal was accomplished.
